

VERY MUCH A FARCE

E. & T. H. Receivership Dissolved
by Request of Both Parties.

The Court at Sullivan, Ind., Heard Evidence to Show the Entire Solvency of the Mackey Road.

GRAMMER BADLY WORSTED
Mackey and the Old Directors
Come Out Decidedly on Top.

Road Agents at Terre Haute—Smallpox Pest House at Muncie—Wesner's Murderer Gets a Change of Venue.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 8.—Receiver J. J. Grammer, of the Evansville & Terre Haute, accompanied by his attorney, J. E. Williamson, went to Sullivan, Ind., today. They appeared before Judge Briggs, and the receiver filed a petition asking that he be discharged as receiver, since the parties to the suit had agreed to dismiss it. The court then, being advised that plaintiffs and defendants were represented by counsel in court, and he being informed that an agreement had been reached, and having heard evidence as to the solvency of the road, thereupon declared the road solvent, dismissed the receiver and ordered all the property returned to the company. This ends what promised to be a very bitter fight, and great satisfaction over the result is expressed here to-night. D. J. Mackey will arrive here to-morrow night. Attorney Iglehart states that the defendants would not submit to vacation of the receivership until they were allowed to prove that the road had three dollars of assets to every dollar of debt. A special to the Journal, from New York to-night, says: "At a meeting in this city today of the various interests in the Evansville & Terre Haute railroad, a plan was agreed upon, which guarantees a new management, entirely divorced from the Peoria, Decatur & Evansville railway and the Louisville-Evansville railway and all classes of security holders, including the floating debt, are promised protection. A meeting to perfect the above will be held in this city or New York next week."

Flisk Will Be a Director.

New York, Sept. 8.—Regarding the amicable settlement of difficulties between Harvey Flisk & Sons and the Mackey coterie over the Evansville & Terre Haute receivership William Nelson Cromwell said, today, that the former withdrew their opposition to the position taken by Mr. Mackey and the directors of the road, because they had learned that they had been incorrectly informed as to the situation, and did not know all the facts in the case. They expressed regret at having gone as far as they did in upholding the action of President Grammer, and only so when they thought in the interest of the bondholders. Mr. Cromwell said that the $25,000 claim which was used as a pretext for the receivership, the money is waiting for the claimants who have been notified to present their claim. This action on the part of Flisk & Sons leaves President Grammer without support from the other side. It is understood that a meeting of the directors of the road will probably be held next week in this city and Mr. Grammer retired from the position he now holds. His successor will, it is said, be D. J. Mackey, president of the road. It is also said that at the next annual meeting Mr. Flisk will become a director of the company. Mr. Cromwell said, however, that there is no change in the Mackey management, nor will there be except that which is stated for next week to be a meeting of the directors of the Evansville & Terre Haute company, in which they will constitute them. As a result of the arrangements made for the protection of all concerned, they add that the bondholders need have no further anxiety about the prompt payment of interest and shareholders have the assurance that the property will hereafter be managed exclusively in their interests. D. J. Mackey, president of the board of directors of the Evansville & Terre Haute, left this afternoon for Indiana. George J. Grammer, the president of the company, who was appointed receiver, will probably be turned out of office. William Nelson Cromwell, the counsel for the board of directors, said: "Mr. Grammer's term of office expires next month. We have in our possession a majority of the stock or proxies for it. The receivership is now a mere formality."

ROBBED THE MAIL WAGON.

Terre Haute Carrier Set On by Road Agents Yesterday Morning.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.
TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 8.—Ray Dinkins, aged twenty-two, son of the man who has the contract for hauling the mails between the depot and postoffice, was a prisoner in his mail wagon for an hour this morning, while two robbers drove in a roundabout way through the streets at some point on the route taking from the wagon three pouches of mail, all that was in his way from the Big Four depot to the Union Depot, about 3:30 o'clock, two men stopped him with drawn revolvers. One man went to the horse's head and the other climbed on the step at the side of the seat. Dinkins fell backward into the covered wagon, and when he brushed the robber's revolver in his face, he was struck on the head with the weapon. By this time the second man had climbed into the wagon, and the two put an empty mail sack over his head and tied his hands behind him. Then they started the horse on a fast trot. He tried to keep in mind the route taken, but so many turns were made that he became confused. When they finally left the wagon, some time after they had disposed of the three pouches, he managed to get the mail sack off of his head, and, driving the horse by word of mouth, made his way to a point near where he had been captured and there he was helped. A gentleman came to his aid and cut the ropes that bound his hands. There he had been struck on the head where he was a bad bruise. The three pouches contained nothing but ordinary mail. On a previous trip he had carried the registered mail pouches, which would have yielded a good deal of money. One pouch contained mail from the east and another from the west on the midnight trains over the Indianapolis &

St. Louis division of the Big Four, while the third was mail from along the Edinburg & Swiss City narrow gauge road.

FOR A MUNCIE PEST HOUSE.

The Citizens Finally Aroused to a Proper Appreciation of Their Danger.

MUNCIE, Ind., Sept. 8.—There was a meeting of the business men and representative citizens last evening for the purpose of discussing the smallpox situation and to adopt more stringent measures to prevent the spread of the contagion and for stamping it out. It was the consensus of opinion that the time had arrived for the adoption of heroic measures, and that all personal or selfish feeling should be laid aside, and a united effort be made in the interests of the city and the welfare of the people. Dr. Jackson, secretary of the City Board of Health, made a statement concerning the development and spread of the disease since the first appearance in Muncie. He explained the methods adopted by the Health Board, the Council committee and the Mayor, and gave in detail the system of quarantine now in force, known as the domiciliary quarantine, in which every house where the disease appears is at once put under guard. The quarantine of a hospital and the power of the health officer to have all infected persons removed thereto was discussed. Dr. Jackson, who had investigated the matter, stated that the Attorney-General's Board had decided that where the house quarantine was satisfactory that the law does not give anyone the authority to remove a person afflicted with a contagious disease to a pest house or hospital. A resolution was adopted endorsing the action of the local health officers, extending the thanks of the citizens, and pledging to them the support and co-operation of the people in their efforts to suppress the disease. The health officers were instructed to prepare the smallpox hospital at once for treatment of patients, and to remove such infected persons thereto as they deemed necessary, where they can be properly cared for.

Change of Venue for J. C. Brown.

DANVILLE, Ind., Sept. 8.—Judge Stephenson, of Hamilton county, today granted a change of venue to Boone county, in the case of J. C. Brown, charged with the murder of Samuel Wesner. The defendant made affidavit that he was unable to get a fair trial here on account of the excitement, and the further reasons assigned were that most of the witnesses lived in Lebanon and their expenses would be less there, and that Mr. Brown's health is such that the constant care of his family was needed, and that great expense was incurred when they were compelled to travel from Lebanon. The State did not object to the change, but asked that Judge Stephenson act at the trial. The defendant agreed to this. The case will come in Boone county in October. Mr. Brown was in court and appeared much the worse for his confinement. He is thin, pale and broken. His wife sat by him throughout the proceedings. He will be taken to Boone county immediately.

The Roby Case Continued.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.
CROWN POINT, Ind., Sept. 8.—The fight for supremacy between the Columbian Club at Roby and Judge Gillet, who put the place in the hands of a receiver this week, came up in court here yesterday, but a change of venue was taken to a time indefinitely fixed in the future. The grand jury will go to work on the prize-fight cases at once, and may report indictments next week under the "White Cap" statute, an act to prevent unlawful conspiracies in the night time. Many people of Lake county look upon the whole proceedings as a farce, saying that the business has been brought on for money. Sheriff Fredericks has been openly accused and Governor Matthews sharply criticized. It seems that Judge Gillet, Governor Matthews and Sheriff Fredericks have been working against one another or the matter would have been closed long ago.

Two Deaths at Wabash.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.
WABASH, Ind., Sept. 8.—One of the quickest deaths on record was that of Andrew Lusk this forenoon. He was helping load cabinets on a drag at the Underwood factory on the best of spirits, and appeared in good health. Without a sign or a word of warning he sank in his tracks, lifeless in an instant. The supposed cause was heart disease. Lusk was about thirty-six years old and married.

Best-Known Woman in the County Dead.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.
HARTFORD CITY, Ind., Sept. 8.—Mrs. Mary A. McGeath, aged thirty-six, wife of John A. McGeath, died this morning of typhoid fever, after three days' illness. During her husband's terms as county treasurer, Mrs. McGeath acted as deputy and managed a set of abstracts, and with him had been engaged in abstracting since. She was one of the best known women in the county, admired for her intelligence, industry and usefulness. The interment will occur at Woodlawn Cemetery, Montpelier, Sunday.

Killed by a Colored Woman.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Sept. 8.—William Meadows, a well-known young man of this city, died today from injuries received on the head with a stone, thrown by Mrs. George McFee, a colored woman. The trouble occurred Aug. 22, when Meadows and the son of Mrs. McFee were quarreling, and the woman interfered and threw a stone, striking Meadows over the head. Mrs. McFee is now in jail on the charge of murder.

Death of a Wealthy Widow.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.
ELKHART, Ind., Sept. 8.—Mrs. Sarah Francis Davenport, aged sixty-one, widow of the late Senator B. L. Davenport, died this morning from the effects of a stroke of blood vessel in her brain. She was very wealthy, and leaves five daughters.

CHRIS BOUHAM KILLED.

Lost an Arm Under Wheels and Lived but a Short Time.

Chris Bouham, aged fifty years, residing at No. 14 South Noble street, suffered the loss of an arm last night, while intoxicated, and died early this morning at the hospital. He was run down by a Lake Erie & Western passenger train on the Union tracks, near the viaduct, while walking between the rails. The accident happened about 10 o'clock, when the train was backing from the Union Station to the yards. The rear car had no light out, but the brakeman was standing on the platform, looking back to see if he had got off the track. The latter, apparently, did not hear, and in an instant was under the wheels. He was carried to the hospital, but he escaped going ground to pieces, a mystery, but strange to say, the injury was confined to the left arm. The arm was amputated last night by the physicians at the City Hospital, but Bouham failed to survive the operation. He was a wagon maker employed by Buchanan, the wagon manufacturer, on South East street.

SET FIRE TO TWO FACTORIES

An Incendiary at Work in the Northeastern Part of the City.

Greer, Wilkinson & Co.'s Plant Damaged to the Extent of $10,000—Adamant Plaster Company's Fire.

About 11 o'clock the first alarm was sounded from the box at the corner of Pine and North streets, and when the department reached the scene they found the warehouses of Greer, Wilkinson & Co., at the corner of the Big Four tracks and East Michigan street, enveloped in flames. A second alarm was immediately sent in by telephone, calling out additional apparatus. The fire had gained considerable headway before the arrival of the department, and the entire lower floor of the two-story frame building was filled with flames, and it was only by quick and efficient work on the part of the fire fighters that the entire building was saved from total destruction. The fire started near the east window of the south side of the building was found a large basket of some kind of material, and it was as if it had been placed against the building and then fired. There was no fire about the building, and the last man to leave the place yesterday evening, L. H. Miller, says that everything was in shape and all right when he left. There was a large stock of sash, doors and blinds stored in the smaller hospital building, and destroyed. The loss on these goods will amount to about $10,000, mostly covered by insurance placed through the agencies of John Wocher and Frank Marr. On the second floor was stored a small quantity of furniture, part of which was owned by the firm and part by Mrs. Louis Traub. The furniture was probably damaged some by heat, but the loss on this will be small.

There seems to be a renewal of incendiary among the factories in the northeastern section of the city, and last night fires were started in that vicinity much as they were last fall. Two fires were started last night, but one of them was quickly extinguished. The work of the same incendiary, who, it seems, was an auxiliary of a gang of thieves that added incendiary to their usual occupation in order to procure an opportunity to perform their thievery. While the department was out in response to the first alarm at Pine and North streets, the engine here on Virginia avenue was burglarized. Every wardrobe in the house was broken open, and two gold watches, $3 and a quarter, and a diamond ring, were stolen. The watches belonged to Pete Delaney and John Hill, both of whose company No. 1, stationed at this house. They had hardly backed the horse wagon into the house after returning from the first fire till another alarm was sounded from the same box, and they were again called out. It is thought an organized gang of thieves have adopted these tactics of firing property in order to enable them to rob the fireman while they are at their post of duty. A member of engine company No. 1, on Indiana avenue, said that just before answering the first alarm he saw a man in a dark coat, who was going about the house. There is a watchman at this house, however, and no property was disturbed.

The second alarm was caused by the fire in the building occupied by the Adamant Plaster Company, just one block north of the scene of the first fire. The fire started in the south wing, where T. West, watchman at the Home Lumber Company's place, turned in the alarm for both fires. Just before he discovered the fire in the warehouse, he was in the direction of the warehouses and darted up an alley. He started in pursuit, but was distanced in the race, and returned to his post. The young man who ran into the alley ran north from Michigan street directly towards the scene of the fire. Detective McGinnis arrested a young man suspected of being the incendiary and brought him to West for identification, but the latter said that he did not know the man. McGinnis recognized the man he saw dart into the alley. The young man arrested gave a satisfactory account of his whereabouts during the entire evening, and was released. The loss of the Adamant Plaster Company will not exceed $700.

A SWORD TO REV. MR. REED.

A Presentation to the Popular G. A. R. Commander of Colorado.

Rev. Myron W. Reed was presented with a sword last night as the most popular department commander in attendance at the National Encampment. The sword was the one voted by the Sentinel. The presentation was made at the Grand Opera House after the second act of Hoyt's "Parlor Match." A large audience had assembled, many of them coming to see the sword, and when the curtain to the second act was rung down, Hon. John W. Kern stepped upon the stage, and in a very brief speech explained to the audience the significance of the token, stating that the sword was a gift from the G. A. R. of the good will and esteem of those with whom you were wont to associate in the past.

As Mr. Reed stepped forward to accept the gift a storm of applause broke forth, which only subsided by his moving forward to speak. He was very deeply affected upon receiving the tribute, and said: "This is a pleasant finale to my very pleasant week in the city of Indianapolis, the center of population of the United States. I do not think that this has been a fair contest. But I am very proud to be the first to see the sword held by Indianapolis people in the kind remembrance. It was a pleasure to me last night to notice that many of the incinerators of the vote were in the ranks of the firm hand of the business men. There were in the handwriting of persons unaccustomed to the pen. I am glad to know that I have friends who are as well as rich. I wish to thank the people of this city, the Sentinel and the press. The press did more for me than any other agent. It pleased to print what I said and aided me at all times by words of encouragement. Again I express my hearty thanks to all of you for your kindness."

BOLDLY HELD HIM UP.

Thomas Hervey, of Richmond, Lost Some Money for a Few Moments.

Sheriff Bob Emmett and Merchant police Walker caught a highway robber last night in rather an unusual manner. The robber and his deputy, Thomas Neelan, were passing along Meridian street, near Maryland, about 9 o'clock, when they saw two men standing in front of the Stewart drug house. One of the men, a gray-haired, well-dressed old fellow, was being held by the merchant police, and the other was being held by the sheriff. The man who had the money in his possession gave the name of S. J. Holdus. His name was Thomas Hervey, of Richmond, who stated that he was here visiting his son, Hervey, who was slightly intoxicated, and appeared to be in a bad way. The money had been taken from him. He stated that Holdus had been walking around with him during the evening, and that he was unable to get rid of him.

Amusements.

Local theatergoers who have been kept away from the various entertainments this week by the crowds of strangers in the city, will have opportunities to see them today, as there will be matinees at all theaters and concluding performances by the respective attractions to-night. These are Hanson's "Sapientia" at English's, "A Parlor Match" at the Grand, and "Side-tracked" at the Park. The Park Theater attraction for next week will be the Irish comedy, "The Cruise-ken Lawn."

ROBBED OF VALUABLE JEWELRY.

A Negro Burglar Enters the Residence of Charles Williams.

The home of Charles Williams, 18 Michigan street, was robbed of considerable jewelry of extensive value last night by an unknown negro, who left his hat in a reckless haste to escape from the house. The Williams family were down town during the early part of the evening and returned home as the burglar was about making his escape. As they entered the gate the negro ran out of the house and, in jumping the fence, lost his hat and a watch and a ring. The burglar is believed to be a negro and is believed to be in the hands on the owner.

CITY NEWS NOTES.

A license was issued yesterday for the marriage of Robert M. Weir and Bertha M. Gillespie.

Dr. G. H. Burroughs, president of Wabash College, will preach in the Tabernacle Church on Sunday morning.

Coroner Beck, after an investigation of the death of Charles Peterson, found dead on Meridian street, is of the opinion that he was the victim of sandbaggers.

R. S. McKee has sold his residence on North Tennessee street to Michael O'Connor, the price paid being $25,000. Mr. McKee will occupy the old Hubbard homestead, on North Meridian street.

Fire started from a defective fuse at No. 42 Virginia avenue, at 10 o'clock last night. The place is occupied by John Oberly, and is used as a millinery store. The damage to the stock and building is estimated at $300.

At Plymouth Church, on Sunday evening, Miss Catherine Spence, government commissioner to the world's fair congress, will give an address upon "Social and Intellectual Reform in Australia." A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

State Insurance Commissioner Duke has been delegated by Auditor Henderson to attend the national convention of insurance commissioners, which will be held at Chicago, at the Auditorium Hotel, Sept. 13 to 17. Mr. Duke will leave for Chicago to-night.

Show, Church & Co. have filed articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State for the establishment of a collecting, printing and publishing company in this city. The capital stock is $10,000 and the directors are Peter P. Casey, W. O. Myers and Walter T. Cox.

Mayor After His Second Wind.

Little or no business was transacted at the City Hall yesterday. The decorations have not been taken down in many of the offices that were made headquarters for the G. A. R. men and devoted to them excitedly during the week. Mayor Sullivan yet, and that no official business had been transacted. There was no meeting of the Board of Public Works yesterday, although some of its members were at the office.

A Prisoner Dangerously Ill.

Harry Avarams, who was tried in Justice Daniels' court Thursday, and found guilty of assault and battery with intent to kill, became affected with a severe attack of erysipelas yesterday, and upon the advice of the board of public works, the city jailers removed him from the county jail to the City Hospital. Avarams has been subject to these attacks, and his condition is not considered dangerous.

Blood Poisoning

"Twelve years ago my wife was picking raspberries when she scratched herself on a briar, the wound from which soon developed into a running sore, between her knee and ankle. We tried medical skill on every side, with no effect. About a year ago she read of Hood's Sarsaparilla and concluded to try it herself, and while taking the first bottle she felt better and continued with it until today she is entirely cured and better than ever. The sore was healed up in seven weeks. Her limb is perfectly sound." J. N. AUGHER, Ritters, York Co., Pa.
